

Invictus Bowmen

At Invictus Bowmen in Peterborough, our juniors are a talented bunch. We are very proud of their archery achievements and enjoy how much archery has. A prime example of this is one of our juniors, Cheyanne, who has written and entered her Acrostic poem below into a local school's competition. The poem is centred on her dream to take her archery to the USA and be recognised as representing the UK by the ultimate audience of the Royals.

Cheyanne is 10 years old and attends Invictus Bowman and Vivacity for Archery. She goes to Discovery, Primary School in Peterborough. Cheyanne is one of our disabled members and has a life limiting condition. Her attitude and maturity mean that she copes well within our club environment and thrives with passing on her expertise and experience to others and ensuring they are maintaining safety standards and club rules. She regularly competes and is placed against Adult ladies in our monthly formal competitions.

Who knows, after seeing this poem maybe someone will help us make her American dream come true, so if you know any Archery counterparts in the US maybe we could get them chatting with Cheyanne.

Archery in America

A mazing day today in America
